SHADOW OF SINN FEIN FALLS OVER ALL ENGLAND

Extraordinary Measures Being Taken To Meet Grave Situation

Cork City Hall Is Set Ablaze When Bomb Is Thrown Into Window

AMBUSH TROOPS

Royal Irish Constabulary Shot Down In Ravine Near Kilmichael

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 30.—It is considered that a grave situation is developing in connection with the extension of the Sinn Fein outrages. The special constables attached to the Metropolitan Police Force have been warned to be in readiness for duty, as they will probably be asked to co-operate in patrolling the warehouse areas.

The precautions which have been taken against further atrocities include a special guard of secret service men for every member of the Cabinet.

The most elaborate precautions have been taken to protect the judges and witnesses at the Ulster Assizes in Belfast where the cases to be tried number 500 most of them arising out of the recent riots.

Asked in the House of Commons whether he did not think the police should be armed, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replied that any officer sent on dangerous duty was supplied with a revolver, while the police authorities had discretionary power as regarded arming their men.

FIRE NEWSPAPER OFFICE

A mysterious party of armed and masked men set fire to the office of the Freeman's Journal in Dublin last night. Immediately previous to this, masked men entered the office of the Unionist paper the Irish Times, and holding up the members of the editorial staff with revolvers, extracted the promise that nothing would be divulged.

There were four incendiary fires in Cork last evening. The Cork City Hall was set on fire by means of bombs thrown through the windows, but the fire was speedily checked. Some of the other fires were accompanied by thrilling scenes. Two ladies sleeping in one flat were awakened by a bomb and were forced to dash down the blazing staircase in their night clothes. They escaped with slight injuries. The Sinn Fein Hall in Limerick was burned last evening.

Dublin Castle reports that two ex-soldiers were seized by armed civilians at Killinaule (Tipperary County), and chained to a wall in Kilkenny for two days. They were unable to lie down owing to the shortness of their chains.

Men in uniform raided several houses at Ardee, County Louth recently, and removed two men whose bodies were subsequently found outside the town.

OFFICERS MULTILATED

Six officers stationed with the auxiliary division at Macroom Castle were ambushed and murdered. Their bodies, when found had nearly all six bullet wounds each, and in addition were terribly mutilated. They had apparently been hacked with hatchets.

The auxiliaries stationed at Macroom Castle are all ex-officers selected for meritorious service on the field during the war. The Castle has been a sort of island in a Sinn Fein sea.

The scene of the murder was an ideal spot for an ambush, with an overhanging cliff on one side of the road and a wood on the other, the road taking a sharp turn at the point in question. The massacre has again brought into prominence the question of sending out parties in motor cars which are absolutely unprotected. The auxiliaries are perched on high seats and crowded together with no elbow-room. Without an inch of cover, they form human targets which a child could not miss.

On the arrival of the Aquitania at Southampton from New York, six suspected Sinn Feiners were

Boulon Embezzlement Trial Will Continue Next Week; Accused Closes Testimony

Former Manager Of Gaston, Williams And Wigmore Grilled In Cross-Eamination Gives Details Of Exchange Deals

The trial of Mr. F. G. Boulon, charged with embezzlement by Gaston, Williams and Wigmore while he was acting as manager of that firm's Shanghai branch, will be continued until next week in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier. Adjournment was taken late yesterday afternoon after two lengthy sessions of court morning and afternoon given over almost wholly to the taking of more testimony from Mr. Boulon himself.

The case for the defense was closed yesterday morning by Mr. R. S. Haskell who is appearing for Mr. Boulon after which the cross examination, conducted by Mr. W. S. Fleming, who is appearing with United States District Attorney C. P. Holcomb for the Government, continued until late in the afternoon. At the conclusion of the case for the defense the taking of testimony in rebuttal was begun This phase of the hearing is to be resumed when the trial is taken up again next week.

It is probable that another day will be given to the taking of testimony, following which arguments, it is understood, will be presented by opposing counsel. It is wholly unlikely that any decision in the case will be announced in less than the next ten days or two weeks.

TWO CIVIL CASES

Following the criminal hearing two civil cases, one filed by Mr. Boulon and another filed by Mrs. Boulon against Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, and both claiming sums alleged to be due from the firm are docketed for hearing.

In continuing the testimony he gave the preceding day yesterday morning Mr. Boulon explained the process in force of crediting the profits on exchange contracts. If the purchase was made and the exchange settled at the same bank, it was customary for the bank to lump together several transactions, and in the case of the transactions showing a profit, with the annotation to whom the profits are to be paid. In answer to the question whether the brokers' returns were checked or not, defendant stated that these were always checked by Mr. Green, who would credit or debit the returns to the particular accounts for which they were originally intended. If the transaction for the account of defendant were to show a profit, a cheque would be drawn by the cashier for defendant, which would be signed by Messrs. Beeson and Jones.

Mr. Boulon stated that at one time the firm was so pressed for money, that had he insisted on the immediate payment of all sums due to him, the firm would not have been able to meet its immediate liabilities, which included the payroll. When he asked for a cheque, Mr. Beeson refused to give it to him on the ground that the firm was too short of ready money.

ATTACKS BEESON

During his testimony Mr. Beeson stated that although he was signing large cheques frequently on behalf of the firm, he had no idea that the funds so paid away were derived from the profit on exchange contracts made by the defendant on behalf of the Company. This, Mr. Boulon stated, was obviously false, as in Mr. Beeson's position it was impossible to be in ignorance of the vital matters concerning himself and the firm. There were daily statements made out, and witness must have known the exact position of the firm, as revealed by the daily and monthly balances.

Asked whether at any time during his service with the Company he had concealed any of the transactions made on behalf of the Company, Mr. Boulon replied emphatically in the negative.

Defendant stated that on June 1, he asked the accountant for enough money to make the trip to America, but was informed that the most which could be spared was Gold $1,000. Mr. Jones suggested that to raise the necessary amount of money it would be advisable to settle the exchange on certain contracts. This defendant did. At this period, the Asia Banking Corporation, to whom Messrs. Gaston, Williams and Wigmore were already heavily indebted, advanced Tls. 13,000 on the firm's account in order to meet the expenditure for the payroll.

ENTERS DENIAL

Defendant, in answer to a question, stated that he had never given instructions that certain transactions were not to be entered in the books. If he had done so this would easily have been detected by the auditors, Messrs. Haskins and Sells, who were auditing on behalf of the Asia.

Assembly Gives Thanks To U.S., Brazil And To Spain

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Dec. 1.—A despatch from Tiflis states: A second Turco-Armenian armistice was concluded and peace negotiations opened at Alexandropol on November 25, at which a Bolshevik Commissary was present.

Bordeaux, December 2 (by wireless to Koukaza).—The following is the text of an official French report of today's proceedings of the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva:

M. Hymans, Chairman of the Assembly, today communicated to the Assembly the telegrams from the Governments of the United States, Brazil and Spain, offering intervention in Armenia. The Chairman then read the Council's reply to these three Governments.

He declared that the cheers of the Assembly demonstrated their unanimous feelings of fervent gratitude. He proposed that a solemn message of thanks should be sent to the Governments which had promised their moral support to the League and to the civilised world.

Lord Robert Cecil declared that thanks were also due to the French delegation and especially to M. Viviani, whose eloquence and skill had suggested the appeal to the various Governments.

M. VIVIANI THANKED

M. Viviani's proposal, Lord Robert Cecil said, had resulted, thanks to publicity in placing at the service of the League of Nations, the Public Opinion of the world, a weapon more powerful than all armies.

Lord Robert Cecil re-emphasised the necessity for continuing the effort to assist Armenia to become an independent nation, capable of defending herself if attacked by a neighbor.

Mr. A. J. Balfour presented the report of the Commission on the draft amendments to the Covenant proposed by the Scandinavian Governments.

Mr. Balfour proposed that the Council be invited to appoint a special commission to study the amendment proposals and report to the Council which would then be in a position to present its conclusions to the next session of the Assembly in September, 1921.

The representatives of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, stated that they accepted this proposal, which was also supported by Holland and India.

A motion submitted by Dr. Alfonso Costa (Portugal) that amendments addressed to the Council by members of the League should also be examined by a Commission appointed by the Council, was adopted.

COVENANT AND TREATY

MM. Motta (Switzerland) and Leon Bourgeois (France) referred to the relation of the Covenant to the Treaty of Versailles. M. Motta affirmed that the covenant was independent of the Treaty, while M. Bourgeois emphasised the close connection between the two, for example, in Articles 1 and 22.

(Note: Article 1 refers to membership of the League, and Article 22 to Mandates.

The proposal was then adopted by a unanimous vote of all representatives present except those of Argentina and Paraguay (who advocated immediate discussion) to refer to the next session the questions:

(1) of the relation of the League to the treaty of Versailles, and

(2) of amendments to the Covenant.

Senor Pueyrredon (Argentina) announced that he approved the Chairman's ruling that the majority was sufficient for adoption of the proposal.

Tomorrow the Commissions will continue their labors. A plenary sitting of the Assembly takes place on Saturday.

Bill To Control Exporting Of English Gold And Silver Passes Its Second Reading

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 30.—The debate on the second reading of the Export of Gold and Silver Bill was resumed in the House of Commons yesterday evening.

The object of the Bill, as Mr. Stanley Baldwin, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, pointed out, when he introduced the Bill on November 4, is to control the export of gold and silver coins and bullion and prohibit the melting or improper use of gold and silver coins.

The Bill empowers the Government to regulate, when necessary, the export of gold by Order-in-Council and to make regulations for controlling its export by license. The bill also increases the penalty for melting down coin from six months' to two years' imprisonment.

Mr. Samuel Samuel moved the rejection of the Bill. He declared that freedom of export of silver to the East was essential for our great interests there. He said this Bill was handicapping British merchants in all parts of the world, and especially in the Far East and China.

BANKERS APPROVE

Mr. Stanley Baldwin declared that the leading bankers had been consulted and had approved the measure.

Major-General Sir Newton Moore said that the Bill would discourage importation of gold. He suggested that the Bill be amended to allow imported gold to be exported on license, otherwise there would be no encouragement to bring gold to the United Kingdom. Australia, he said, was sending her gold direct to India, China, and other places. South Africa was sending hers to America.

Mr. Baldwin, replying, said the criticism of the Bill had been perfectly fair and reasonable. The reasons why the Government adhered to the terms of the Bill were that it conferred a permanent, dormant power which they considered an essential part of the financial armory of the country. Hence the Government was anxious, and the bankers, as trustees of the gold supplies of the country, were anxious, to see this made part of the permanent financial equipment of the country.

LONDON FREE MARKET

The Government, continued Mr. Baldwin, desired as much as anyone to see London again the free market for which it had been renowned for so many years. He declared that there was not the slightest risk of the objection to the Bill proving valid.

He was glad there was a concensus of opinion that at present the restrictions on the export of gold must be maintained, but he was not surprised at comments regarding the prohibition of the export of silver which was entirely different. It was hopeful that it would not be necessary to issue a regulation against the export of silver bullion.

Mr. Baldwin pointed out that the position of silver coinage today was different. There might be an imminent risk with regard to it, when a new coinage of different fineness was being introduced in this country.

The unrestricted export of silver might then lead to the temporary drainage of the more valuable coins and might conceivably leave us with a dangerous shortage of silver coinage. He was hopeful that from the outlook today it might not be necessary to put into effect the powers of the Bill.

GOLD SITUATION

Replying to Major-General Sir Newton Moore, Mr. Baldwin said it was common knowledge that an arrangement had been in force for some time whereby gold from South Africa was imported into Great Britain to be refined and re-exported. It was done under a special system of licenses. This had been perfectly satisfactory to the South African Government. Mr. Baldwin gave the assurance that he would suggest a clause in the committee stage of the Bill giving statutory force to this arrangement.

The second reading was carried.

In connection with the above, it may be recalled that the London Gazette on November 27 announced that "silver specie may be exported without license but the export of silver bullion and British silver coin is still prohibited except by license."

Nationals In Shanghai Believe Trouble Will Be Adjusted

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—There are prospects of a conflict between d'Annunzio and the Italian Government troops in consequence of d'Annunzio's defiance of the Treaty of Rapallo.

Reuter's Fiume correspondent telegraphs that d'Annunzio has issued a proclamation declaring: "The legionaries are ready to sacrifice themselves if necessary."

General Caviglia, commanding the Government forces, has issued a counter-proclamation to the troops, saying: "We are faced with a sad task: I rely on your complete co-operation."

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, December 2.—According to advices from Rome published in the Temps the Italian Government has officially notified the Entente Powers of a blockade of Fiume by land and Sea.

The Messagero learns from Fiume that the Zeln Squadron made a demonstration yesterday.

ITALIANS IN SHANGHAI HOLD OPTIMISTIC VIEW

Italians in Shanghai do not take D'Annunzio's defiant attitude seriously and express the opinion that the Government of Italy will clear the situation in a few days. They say that the soldier poet who was responsible for the independence of Fiume will have few supporters in Italy because Italy was such a gainer through the Treaty of Rapallo, which assures the independence of Fiume. Fiume now must decide whether or not the territory will become an integral part of Italy.

Newspapers arriving here recently from Rome bring the news that

Peking Finance Minister Sharply Rebuked In Letter Of Agents Of Consortiurm

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Dec. 3.—The Consortium representatives in Peking yesterday replied to the letter of Minister of Finance Chow, requesting that he remove the false impressions created in the public mind by this communication, which, the representatives charge, he discourteously made public to British papers in Tientsin and Shanghai without consulting the addressees.

The Consortium representatives take exception to three features of the letter. First, Chow's reference to a financial monopoly; second, the implication that the land tax was requested as a security; third, the reference in his letter to a preceding interview implying that these two matters had been mentioned therein—which the representatives deny, stating that the only loan mentioned at that interview, aside from the Administration loan, which was refused, was the railroad construction loan and that the only security mentioned was the wine and tobacco tax.

The Consortium representatives construe Chow's letter as a deliberate attempt to place them in a false position and threaten that in the event that he does not make a public retraction they will publish their letter of protest, exposing him.

Foreign And Chinese Shops At Ichang Looted, Burned

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, Dec. 3.—Eighteen of the 24 Japanese firms in Ichang were looted, according to the official report of the Japanese Consul. The losses were enormous, while two Japanese are reported to be injured. Troops at Tayeh, Hupeh, are threatening revolt on account of the failure of the government to pay them for the last nine months.

The disbandment of the entire 13th brigade, formerly under the command of General Wu Kwan-hsin, which started the looting in Ichang on the night of the 29th, is asked in a telegram sent to Peking by Tuchun Wang Chuan-yuan of Hupeh. The brigade is at present under the control of Chang Hsi-shan. A portion of the 18th division, under General Wang Ting-chen, also participated in the mutiny.

The looting in Ichang was general, every shop or firm of standing, whether foreign or Chinese, was looted and then set on fire. Banks, exchange shops, pawn shops, shipping offices and other leading business houses were raided.

Tuchun Wang has ordered General Chao Yung-hua, the Defense Commissioner of the Shih-I Districts and Tang Ting-chen to suppress the mutiny.

CHINA GETS PLANE USED IN HISTORIC ROME-TOKIO TRIP

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Dec. 3.—The Italian Minister has informed the Waichiaopu that Italy intends presenting China with one of the two Rome-to-Tokio flight airplanes as a mark of regard. The other plane has already been designated as a gift to Japan.

The plane to be presented to the Chinese Government, the SVA used by Lieut. Masiero from Shanghai to Tokio on the last laps of the Rome-Tokio flight, is expected here on the Lloyd Triestino steamer Persia, due in Shanghai next Tuesday. It will be accepted on behalf of the Government by Mr. Jabin Hsu, the local Commissioner of Aeronautics.

The plane will then be sent to Peking by rail and will be on exhibition at the Central Park.

The one designated to Japan as a gift is also a SVA, piloted by Lieut. Ferrarin, on the historic flight.

HARRISON FAVORS INDEPENDENCE OF PHILIPPINES

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 1.—Governor Harrison's annual report, which was published here tonight, renews the recommendation that independence be granted to the Philippines.

It states that a stable government has already been established and that the elections of 1919 had demonstrated that the Filipinos had the ability to organise a political government, although there were apparently some irregularities to adjust in the election laws.

It recommends that equal suffrage be granted, while other recommendations are for the revision of the land and immigration laws, the development of port facilities and the organisation of a campaign to interest Americans in the commercial possibilities of the Islands.

COTTON MARKET IN SHAKY STATE

Southern Merchants Nervous In Face Of Varying Reports; Some Destroy Stores

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 29 (by mail).—The cotton market is in a very nervous state. The holding movement seems to have spread throughout the South. Nevertheless there is a general belief that Europe will take a large quantity of low grade cotton if credit is given and a corporation to finance such exports is being prepared and should soon be in a position to do business.

Some think it will show that the much talked of European demand is a myth; others believe Central Europe is hungering for such cotton and it will relieve the South of a big burden. The outcome will be watched with much interest in either event.

Meantime, the South's attitude regarding prices is still the subject of much comment and no little criticism. Gov. Parker, of Louisiana advocates the cessation of all ginning for a period of 30 days as a means of advancing prices, which leads a leading trade paper to observe editorially that "this simply means a more severe drop when the time for a fall comes, if come it must under any circumstances."

URGES DESTRUCTION

The editorial then goes on to say that "the cotton farmer can hardly be blamed for the use of self-destructive tactics with regard to his current crop when his appointed leaders take so short-sighted and unwise a view as is seen in this statement issued by the executive of a great State."

The same views are entertained here concerning the depredations of the night riders, who by the way, are being rounded up by the law in many states, showing that farmers are evidently averse to having someone else destroy their property for them.

In a prepared statement the New Orleans Cotton Exchange declares that there is nothing the matter with the South beyond an unreasoning scare in cotton, and then asks, "Why then, should we, after four seasons, in which our raw cotton, including seed, has exceeded in value £7,970,000,000, balk at carrying a few million bales pending a temporary lull in demand?"

This is very much in line with a recent editorial in a Wall Street paper to the effect that the average business man who had enjoyed four or five years of exceptional prosperity would hardly be setting up a calamity howl over one lean year.

13 SOLONS HURT WHEN SILK MEN STORM ASSEMBLY

Nanking, December 3.—Thirteen Assemblymen of the Kiangsu Provincial Assembly were yesterday severely beaten by millhands of the silk factories here while holding a secret meeting to refuse the withdrawal of the resolution passed by them to open the silk industry to foreigners.

The millhands today filed a petition with the Military and the Civil Governors, threatening to strike unless a favorable reply is given. The time limit of the strike will be tomorrow. It is said that the strike of the silk workmen will be followed by the men in other industrial enterprises. The chairman of the Industrial Bureau has tendered his resignation. Condition appears to be very serious.

British Army Total Given As 295,000

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 30.—Replying to Mr. Locker-Lampson (Wood Green) in the House of Commons today, Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary for War, stated that the British Army was at present distributed approximately as follows: Home stations, 153,000, including nearly 50,000 in Ireland; the Rhine, 13,000; Egypt, Palestine, the Black Sea, Mesopotamia, and Northwest Persia, 43,500; the Colonies, 9,500; France and Flanders, 3,500; India and Aden, 64,000; miscellaneous, 7,500 making a total of 295,000.

Life is full of surprises, as somebody has knowingly remarked, and some of them happened to Koo Ying-chi a day or so ago.

Koo is a contractor who is at present engaged in constructing a building on the Paoshan Road. In connection with this work he called at the shop of Liang Tse-yuin the other afternoon, Liang being engaged in the retail hardware business. As he was greeting the master of the shop there drew up outside a resplendent, handsomely enamelled, and nickelled 1920 model ricsha. Whereupon Koo got his first surprise of the day; for he recognised the occupant of this elegant outfit as none other than one Wong Kuen-sung, formerly employed by him as a coolie in the building operations aforementioned and fired by him as being generally worthless and unfit for the job assigned to him of carrying bricks and mortar from hither to yon.

On seeing his former employer Wong got rapidly back into his ricsha and went rocketing off down the street as though he had just happened to remember that he was overdue on a tea engagement with some queen of local opera.

The shopkeeper had also noticed Wong.

"One of your partners," he commented casually. "Very agreeable chap too. Your business must be very good indeed, judging by the number of bolts and things he has ordered for you in the past few days."

Coming on top of the shock of seeing his erstwhile hod-shifter arrayed in flowered silks and riding in a $200 ricsha this was too much for Koo. He appealed, gaspingly, for further enlightenment. So Liang brought out a sheaf of order blanks, to each of which Koo's name was appended, and told how Wong was in the habit of presenting one or more of them every day and carrying away with him quantities of ironmongery—the bill for which at present amounted to $245.80. Koo had to admit that his signature had been pretty well imitated.

Wong's sudden prosperity was easily traceable along the primrose trail of teashops and sing song houses fringing North Shansi Road and the police had him into Court so rapidly that he hadn't a plausible story to offer toward a modification of the six months' isolation which the Magistrate decreed for him.

The Secretary,
French Municipal Council.

Dear Sir.—Pursuant to the recent demands of the Council rolative to the water conduits, hydrants, the extension of the distribution of electricity and the public lighting, we beg to inform you that owing to the importance of this work and in accordance with instructions from our Head Office, this question must be submitted to our General Direction at Paris. We will send all the papers referring to this work to Paris immediately and as soon as we receive a reply will not fail to communicate same to you.

Yours, etc.,
The Director,
Signed: L. Laforest.

The reply of the local Director cannot but be in accordance with instructions from his Company. For any improvement, however small; for all additions, however few, he must refer to his Head Office at Paris.

The residents of the French Concession of Shanghai can be deprived of light, perish victims of a fire because of the lack of water or be suffocated in the overcrowded tramcars before the demands of the Council, which is looking after their interests, are justified.

We must wait until these gentlemen in Paris have received the reports from Shanghai, have examined the same with that knowledge of persons and things in Shanghai for which they are noted, demanded further explanations, formed their objections and finally until they have decided to loosen their purse strings.

The Poor people of Shanghai!

Boulon Embezzlement Trial Will Continue Next Week; Accused Closes Testimony

Banking Corporation, to whom as he had previously stated, the firm was heavily indebted. He explained that the bank naturally wanted to protect its interests. After a great deal of trouble, the firm finally paid defendant $1,000 towards his travelling expenses, but this did not nearly cover them.

Asked to explain the fact that the evidence showed that defendant had withheld information regarding exchange contracts until same had shown profit, he denied that he had ever done this, and further stated that the contracts in question were always on the top of his desk, so that anyone coming into his room could not have failed to see them. Defendant further denied the allegation that when exchange contracts had shown a profit he had taken this, and when a loss this had been debited to the Company. Defendant stated that Mr. Beeston showed his ignorance of exchange when he made this statement. Asked who would have borne the loss if any, defendant stated that he would have done so, stating that as all contracts made on behalf of the firm were made for a specific purpose, it would have been impossible to charge the Company. If a contract showed a loss, it would have to be charged to some particular venture, which would have rendered him liable to instant detection by the auditors and members of the staff. Asked by Mr. Haskell whether it was a common practice for the heads of firms to settle exchange for their own personal accounts in the name of the firm, Mr. Boulon stated that this was the common practice.

Mr. Fleming here interrupted heatedly, saying that he could produce evidence from the Robert Dollar Company and the American Trading Company and many others to the contrary.

Mr. Haskell then remarked that if Mr. Fleming were to do that he would produce dozens of people in responsible positions to testify to the contrary.

Mr. Boulon in attempting to prove that all his contracts were for his own personal account stated that none of these had ever been greater than his salary warranted. He again stated that Mr. Beeston's evidence was valueless, as his experience did not justify his offering an opinion.

SAYS FIRM PROFITED

In the course of his testimony Mr. Boulon was asked if he had sold only contracts which showed profits and left others to be carried by the company and in replying he asserted that since the date of the preliminary hearing the exchange situation was such that all transactions showed large profits and that the firm, instead of holding the bag for losses, would profit to a considerable extent.

Mr. Boulon admitted that dealing in exchange had wrecked more firms in China than any other thing.

In the course of the examination the attack of the prosecution again was centered on the first of the two charges, that charging embezzlement of the specific amount of Taels 12,250.-84. As he had stated the preceding day the witness declared he did not know why the check in payment of this amount had been drawn in the name of Yea Kong Yung and said also he did not know what particular exchange profits were included in that check. He said he had taken Mr. Jones' word that it covered three or four transactions showing profits credited to him. He added that he had made a statement to Mr. Swift, Mr. Beeson and Mr. Denby that this check was made up of profits due Chinese firms and that he had borrowed the funds back from them a a personal loan.

One important question that was addressed to the accused by his own attorney is having the effect of prolonging the hearing, after the defense had sought to withdraw both question and answer from the record of the case and had failed. In this question Mr. Boulon was asked to say whether he thought it was customary for managers of concerns in Shanghai to speculate in exchange with the firms' credit. He said he thought it was done all the time.

ADMITS MIS-STATEMENT

One of the noteworthy points of yesterday afternoon's cross examination on which particular stress was laid by Attorney Fleming for the Government was an admission elicited from Mr. Boulon that a record of exchange transactions he had entered into, which he had listed in a letter addressed to Mr. W. H. Swift, Vice President of the Company, was not correct and was at variance with company records and with statements Mr. Boulon made on the witness stand.

Mr. Boulon told Mr. Fleming he had presented this inaccurate record in the letter in question for a particular purpose.

"It was done to mislead you," he declared.

When it was pointed out that the letter had been addressed to an officer of the company, and when the witness was pressed on the point of whether it was a proper course for an employe to give misleading information when questioned concerning accounts, Mr. Boulon insisted that he was not an employe of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore when the letter was written and he repeated that the mis-statements in the letter had been made to 'mislead Mr. Fleming.'

OTHER POINTS

The prosecution pressed the point that the banks handling the transactions involved in the complaint knew only the firm of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, that they credited and charged the firm on the business, and that in the event of a loss resulting from such exchange deals, the banks would look to the firm, and not to the individual manager for recompensation. In this connection Boulon declared that had a loss resulted instead of a profit, he would have closed out the contract, at a loss of only one or more points, and that the accounting department would assign such loss to its proper account.

Mr. Fleming insinuated to the defendant that the latter had held back purchase documents on exchange deals, and only assigned them to his account after he saw that a profit had already accrued, but this was vehemently denied.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Q. Your transactions on the exchange with the banks were very extensive, were they not?

A. They amounted to about $125,000 between March 8 and June 2.

Q. A man of reputation can enter into exchange transactions with a bank without outside supporters. Why did you not use your own credit?

A. I did use my own credit.

Q. That is not indicated on the exchange contracts. A It is.

Q. Then why did you speculate for the company? A. I speculated up to the end of March, and gave the company credit.

Q. Is it true that in February you shifted your earlier speculations to Gaston, Williams and Wigmore? A. I shifted the contracts in December.

Q. For your own profit. A. I bought goods the same way as exchange, and it is perfectly legitimate business.

Q. You couldn't have had enough credit with the banks to operate on the exchange on such a large scale for your own account. A. I could.

Q. Didn't the manager of the Asia Banking Corporation have you on the carpet regarding the exchange business which you were doing in behalf of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore?

A. At the time you refer to, I was called in by Mr. Avery regarding an exchange transactionn of $500,000, which had nothing to do with the present charges.

Q. You were sent for to explain exchange transactions, and, according to your statement, you deliberately concealed from Mr. Avery, the fact that you were speculating extensively As you know, the Asia Banking Corporation has an interest in Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, and have a right to know of the financial condition of the company.

A. At the time that Mr. Avery spoke to me, I had only one transaction. I have made it a point to close out on one exchange contract before taking on another.

Q. You were speculating on the exchange in the name of your firm, because you yourself had no credit, using the name of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore to make an illegitimate profit, were you not? A. No, I was not.

OTHER WITNESSES

It was directly due to Mr. Boulon's statement that it was customary for managers of firms in Shanghai to speculate in exchange with the firms' credit that Mr. J. Harold Dollar, General Manager of The Robert Dollar Company, and Mr. W. A. Burns, Agent of the American Trading Company, were summoned as witnesses. They were called after the effort of the defense to withdraw this statement, which was vigorously opposed by the government, had failed.

Both Mr. Dollar and Mr. Burns testified emphatically that officials holding responsible positions in their companies would not be permitted to speculate in exchange on the credit of their firms. Witnesses supporting the opposing contention that Mr. Haskell said would be produced are to be heard at the next session of the trial.

Two other witnesses whose testimony brought to a close the afternoon hearing yesterday were Mr. Jones, accountant for Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, who was recalled to the stand and Mr. H. A. Hollometer, accountant with the firm of Haskins & Sells, the firm employed by the Asia Banking Corporation to audit the company's books. Both of these witnesses testified concerning accounts of the firm and concerning various transactions in exchange in which Mr. Boulon had been interested.

Opium Case Is Again Before Mixed Court

The case was continued in the Mixed Court yesterday of the four Chinese charged with felonious seizure of opium and attempted extortion—the case in which flashed between counsel have enlivened the proceedings frequently at previous hearings.

Yesterday the fourth accused, a detective attached to Wayside station, was placed in the witness box. He denied the charges of theft and extortion. He had been a member of the Municipal Police force for over twenty years, he testified, and had been at Wayside since August 1918, when he was assigned to opium smuggling cases. Since then he had reported and made arrests in over 160 opium cases. The complainant in the case, he stated, was formerly a detective's second at Central Station and two of his co-defendants were also detective's seconds previously.

The case was again adjourned

TO CURE SLEEPLESSNESS WITHOUT DRUGS

A READER'S COMMON-SENSE ADVICE.

The enormously increased sales and soaring prices of opiates and "sleeping powders" since the war began prove that this dangerous drug-taking has become habitual to an appalling extent. Insomnia, like headache, is always directly due to high blood pressure and congestion of blood in the head. The brain remains too active, so too much blood rushes through its veins, and sleep becomes impossible. The usual procedure is to depress the heart action with drugs, and thus slacken the circulation (the heart must always slow down in sleep) so high blood pressure and throbbing therefore stops. This is done by taking bromides, acetanilide, etc.

A few weeks ago my wife's insomnia nearly drove her insane, and bromides always caused numbness and palpitation. Then she was attacked by acute particular rheumatism. To help this latter she took hot baths for a few nights just before retiring, and in the water dissolved a tablespoonful of refined Reudel Bath Saltrates, which any chemist can supply. A half-pound is fully sufficient for even the worst cases. These saltrate baths soon stopped her rheumatic pains, and they entirely cured her insomnia too. Her doctor explained that the hot soltrates water expands the surface blood vessels, thereby slackening the circulation slightly and drawing excess of blood from the brain. Also it soothes the nerves, and by relieving all congestion quickly stops any discomfort or restlessness, so sleep always follows the moment you lie down. In this way the bath safely does all that dangerous opiates, etc., possibly could, and there can be no bad reaction. Take my tip, tear this out, and next time avoid dangerous for insomnia. You can quickly cure it by following my advice.—D. L. C.

NOTE.—Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, are at present in possession of large supplies of Reudel Bath Saltrates.

POLICE PICKED TO DEFEAT FOOTBALL CLUB FIRST TEAM; TEN GAMES CARDED TODAY

One First League And Six Second Division Games On Program For Local Footballers; Two Games In E.C.I.A.A. Series

BY "WHISTLE"

First League interest will center in the one and only fixture arranged for today, i.e. the match between the S.F.C. and Police on the former's ground.

The Football Club do not seem to have been able to get together yet, and unless their practice has given them more cohesion than was apparent in their game with the "Recs," the Police look like fairly easy winners.

The latter team is a good side, they have pace and combination, and unless the ground is too heavy for them to stay the course, tomorrow evening will probably see the two points safely locked up at headquarters.

In the 2nd League, three teams at present own four points apiece. viz "The Recs," Customs, and Navy.

The Recs line up against the Public School, and the boys are hardly likely to repeat last Saturday's performance, but if they can go on combining as they have been doing, they should put up a good game.

The Navy are probable winners against the Rangers and the Customs should take two points from the International on paper form.

SECOND LEAGUE GAMES

There are four other second league games and several other matches carded. The Jewish Recreation Club meet the British-American Tobacco Company Recreation Club at Hongkew Park; Police and St. Xavier's battle at the former's field; the Polo Field will see the Football Club play the Engineers, and the Waterworks and Electricity Department elevens are down to clash at the Widow's Monument ground.

And two games are scheduled in the Each China Intercollegiate Athletic Association series with Nanyang College playing at Soochow University field and Shanghai College fighting it out with Fuh Tan at Fuh Tan. The Nanyang players left for Soochow on the morning train yesterday.

Thus ten games are to be played here today.

HIGGINS RETAINS BANTAM CROWN OF GREAT BRITIAN

Champion Gets Decision On Points From Billy Eynon, Challenger

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 30.—In a twenty rounds boxing match for the Bantam-weight Championship of Great Britain, at the National Sporting Club last night, Jim Higgins (Scotland), the holder, beat Billy Eynon (Wales) on points.

Child Chess Prodigy Sails For New York

London, Oct. 27.—After a sojourn of three months in this country, during which time he gave a number of convincing exhibitions of his extraordinary skill, Samuel Rzeschewski, the nine-year-old Polish expert, is on his way to the United States, having sailed today for New York on board the steamship Olympic of the White Star Line.

Accompanying the prodigy were his parents and manager. While in England he met with quite as much success as on the Continent, and of fifty-four games played by him in three exhibitions he lost only one, winning forty-three and drawing ten.

Fred Mitchell Is Wanted By Two Big League Teams

Chicago, November 3.—Fred Mitchell, deposed manager of the Cubs has left Chicago but this does not mean he is never coming back. All indications are that he will return as pilot for one of the major league teams. Boston, in the American League, wants him to take Ed Barrow's place and President William Baker, of the Phillies, would like to sigh him to supplant "Gaccy" Cravath. Inasmuch as Mitchell hiked straight for Boston, it would not surprise anyone here to learn he had accepted the offer in that city. Johnny Evers has wired from Havana accepting the management of the Cubs, and expressing himself as delighted at the chance. He will find a task awaiting him. The team must be rebuilt if it is to continue in the first division.

Boxing Commission Suspends Four Offending Glove Tossers

Hermann, Williams, Reisler And Reese Are Penalised For Infractions In Ring

BY FRED HAWTHORNE

The New York State Boxing Commission has announced that it is going to keep two or three of the bad boxing boys in after regular boxing hours, as a result of the misbehavior of the class at the Commonwealth Sporting Club and at the Madison Square Sporting Club.

Tillie Herman, a student in the welterweight class, is one of those who will have to eat his meals off the mantelpiece for an indefinite time. Tillie committed a foul on Marty Cross, and he was suspended indefinitely by the commission.

At the same club, in the same class, that boy K. O. Lew Williams, better known as the "human stick o' licorish," laid down on the ring floor and refused to play any more after Panama Joe Gans had punched Lew in the pork-chop pantry in the fourth round. Lew's place at dinner will be set right alongside Tillie's—on the mantelpiece.

The third miscreant is Johnny Reisler, son of our lathering pal, John the Barber, who has given the boys many a close shave in his cycle of years. Johnny was accused of using bad words and fouling Freddy Reese in their study hour at the Garden. Johnny is going to eat his soup and coffee standing up for the thirty days, and so will Reese, for failing to make the weight agreed upon in his contract. Freddy was a guest at a dinner on the night of the bout and took two helpings of everything, so that he was fourteen pounds overweight.

The following will represent the Portuguese Sporting Association:

Referee: M. Campos.

BASKETBALL DOUBLEHEADER ON AT ROWING CLUB TONIGHT; COLLEGE TEAM PLAYS AT "Y"

Rowing Club Meeting American School Quintet While Reds Battle Whites In League Games; Y.M.C.A. Five Playing E.C.I.A.A. Champs

Two games are scheduled for tonight in the Foreign basketball League and a big crowd is expected to turn out to see the double header which is to be staged at the Rowing Club gymnasium.

In the first game the Red and Whites are to clash while the second battle is to be between the Shanghai American School and the Rowing Club.

Little dope can be gleaned regarding the strength of the Whites. The same is practically true of the Reds for last Tuesday night they played with only four men-Mushorer, McCloy, Irons and Wilhoit, Cy playing both left and right guard. The contract was a little too much for the first sacker.

The Rowing Club, however, should have little difficulty with the American School. The school boys lost to the Public School for Boys last Tuesday by the score of 31-9 but the Public School was then strengthened by the addition of Charley Glauque, whose school days have been over for a week or two.

The Rowing Club tonight will have L. Day and Coulcher as forwards, E. Nash and F. Day in the guard positions and E. Nash as the pivot man. Squires, the Duff boys, Parker and Chase will play for the American School.

GAME AT CHINESE "Y" GYM

The Shanghai College quintet, which ran away with the title in the East China Intercollegiate Athletic Association series a year ago, will tangle with the Chinese Y.M.C.A. team tonight at the "Y" gym. The game is to start at 7 o'clock. The quintets are probably the strongest Chinese teams in the city.

Additional interest is attached to the game as Captain T. T. Zee of the Y.M.C.A. team was a member of the Shanghai College outfit a year ago and was one of the factors in its winning the East China title. Zee is as all around athlete and captained his varsity baseball team two years. He plays guard tonight. Another former star at Shanghai College is Wong Jao, guard on the "Y" five.

Two Olympic men, D. S. Lee and Liu Tse-may, are members of the Y.M.C.A. aggregation. Liu is to play center tonight. He formerly played basketball in Tientsin. Lee is known as Doo Sing by racing followers. He is also a track athlete of some ability.

Tom Chang Wong Ven-hwa and Wu Zung-mow, forwards, and Yee Yuen-ding, guard, complete the Y.M.C.A. squad which was chosen last night after a conference of the eight captains of "Y" quintets.

DODGERS SIGN UNCLE ROBBIE FOR 3 YEARS

Ebbets Retains Manager Of National Champions Until End Of 1923

Wilbert Robinson will continue to manage the Brooklyn Dodgers for three years to come. This announcement has been made by Charles H. Ebbets. He declared that Uncle Wilbert had signed a contract with a substantial increase and that he had been paid a bonus for his achievement in the season just passed.

This spikes all the stories that Robinson is to become manager of the New York Yankees. The Yankee club is one of four that have been trying to get Robinson as a manager. He has been offered a salary as high as $17,500 a year by the owners of one of the clubs.

In 1916 Robinson won a National League pennant for Brooklyn with a club that was made up of discards from many clubs. This year he repeated the performance. It was thought that the first victory might have been an accident, but when he repeated this year club owners started to sit up and take notice. They realised how much of the Brooklyn team's success was due to the managerial wizardry of Robinson.

As a player on the famous old Orioles Robinson made a batting record that never has been equaled. In one game he hit safely seven times in seven times at bat. The personality of Robinson meant much to the Brooklyn team. Without Wilbert Robinson Charles H. Ebbets, the good old squire of Flatbush, would be wondering next year what was keeping the customers away from his park.

arrested, but were later released and proceeded to London. Arms and ammunition were found in their possession.

ROUND-UPS EFFICIENT

Arthur Griffith "Acting President" of the Irish Republic, is being held in Mountjoy Jail.

Altogether four hundred persons have been arrested in Dublin during the past ten days, including the manager and two other members of the staff of the newspaper, Young Ireland.

It is significant of the efficiency of the recent police round-ups that numbers of rifles, revolvers, bombs and cartridges have been found lying in the streets, discarded by their owners in the fear of being discovered with them in their possession. The police have searched the offices of the Irish Self-Determination League in London, and four other houses, removing all the documents and money found there. Two men were detained in London as a result of the anti-Sinn Fein raids, but were subsequently released.

Sir Hamar Greenwood stated in the House of Commons that it was intended to intern all persons whom there was reason to suspect of being connected with the Irish Republican Army, they would be treated as prisoners of war, but that neither involved their recognition as prisoners of war, nor gave them that status.

HOUSE REARS OF OUTRAGES

London, November 30.—Particulars of the recent bloody slaughter of the Royal Irish Constabulary auxiliaries near Kilmichael were given by Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in the course of the Irish debate in the House of Commons last night.

On the adjournment, the Chief Secretary said that the Liverpool outrages and the London attempt showed that the Sinn Fein murder gang was carrying on its senseless campaign of murder and arson in Great Britain, and he expressed the fear that it might be extended to persons and property here unless the country were thoroughly roused.

He proceeded to read out the telegrams regarding the Kilmichael ambush. It consisted of about eighty to a hundred men, all dressed in khaki, and wearing steel trench-helmets. They fired from both sides of the road, and also turned a direct enfilade of fire straight down it.

STEAL EVEN CLOTHING

By force of arms, some of the Crown men were disarmed and brutally murdered; their bodies were rifled, all money and valuables were taken and the clothing stolen from the corpses.

Continuing, Sir Hamar Greenwood said he did not think that, with fifteen ex-officers of the late war thus lying dead, the House could wish to continue the discussion in face of the challenge to the authority of the House and to civilisation.

Mr. William Archer Redmond said that no one in the House could accuse him or those with whom he was associated with feeling anything but the deepest and most profound regret for the type of outrage which had just been related.

BOMB EXPLOSION

London, Nov. 30.—A bomb-explosion occurred on the premises of a skin-merchant in Old Swan Lane, near the London Bridge, at 12:57 o'clock this morning. The bomb was apparently left on the premises in a portmanteau, with the time-fuse set for one o'clock. The floors of the building were blown up, but there were no casualties.

Later.—The bomb explosion in Old-Swan Lane is all the more alarming because of what it portends than for the actual damage done, which only amounted to the wrecking of the basement of the warehouse which was packed with skins.

The absence of casualties was due to their being no dwelling houses in the neighborhood.

The authorities are not prepared to state that the outrage was the work of Sinn Feiners, but they are convinced that the explosion was caused by a bomb similar to those recently used in Liverpool.

London, Dec. 1.—Light has been thrown on the recent mysterious explosion in a coffin-maker's workshop at Cork. Police witnesses at the court of enquiry testified that they found a tin box there hidden under a bench, containing 353 rounds of revolver ammunition, all of flat-nosed. An unexploded bomb was also found concealed on the premises.

HOME RULE BILL CHANGED

London, Dec. 2.—A drastic change has been made in the Home Rule Bill by the House of Lords in the committee stage, in the course of which the Government was defeated. The House, by 120 votes to 36, agreed to an amendment to create a senate in the South of Ireland, in order to safeguard the southern Unionists, after the Lord Chancellor, on behalf of the Government, had opposed it. He declared that the amendment would destroy the representative character of the Frist Chamber.

A similar amendment, providing for a similar senate for the North of Ireland, was then carried without a division, also an amendment—by 48 votes to 34—despite the Lord Chancellor's opposition, laying down that the Council of Ireland provided by the bill shall consist of the two foregoing senates.

The Lord Chancellor said a big hole had been made in the bill, and he doubted whether the whole measure would survive.

London, Dec. 2.—Professor John MacNeill, who was one of the prominent Sinn Feiners recently arrested in Dublin, and was afterwards released, has again been arrested.

GRAVE DEPRESSION IN WORLD TRADE SEEN BY PREMIER

Lloyd George Thinks It Inevitable And Urges Peace And Economy

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—Speaking at a dinner given by the Federation of British industries, Mr. Lloyd George referred to the coming serious trade depression, which he thought would be world-wide, saying that he was afraid it was inevitable, but that the question was whether it were possible to do anything to shorten it or mitigate its evils.

The first remedy was peace. Europe must work with both hands, and she could not handle the sword with one hand and the trowel with the other.

In the main, the Premier said, the Government policy was the less interference with trade the better. He appealed to the nation to back up the Government in a campaign of economy, and declared that there must be thrift, not only in the Government but in the home as well.

Family committees on economy were needed as well as Government committees.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paragoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given your physician know of what to your children unless you or it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."

American Red Cross Plans Extensive Famine Relief

Field Executive, After Survey, Tells Of Campaign To Be Carried Cut In Shantung

Plans for the speedy alleviation of the suffering from famine in the Shantung Province have been launched by the American Red Cross under the direction of Mr. Emmet W. White, manager of the insular and foreign division of the American Red Cross and the China Central Committee.

Mr. White, who was ordered from Manila to China for the purpose of directing the spending of the $500,000 appropriated by the American Red Cross for famine work in China, has returned to Shanghai after an investigating trip of several weeks in the famine districts.

A feature of the relief work to be undertaken by the American Red Cross is the building of a road which will run through the heart of the famine territory allotted to the American Red Cross, and will enable the organisation to distribute supplies easily.

In regard to the work of the American Red Cross Mr. White said yesterday:

WILL BUILD ROAD

"After a conference with the American Minister, officials, and the members of the China Central Committee it was decided that the American Red Cross should undertake to meet the need in one definite section in the famine district, to carry on relief work through a constructive labor project and form an organisation of Americans and Chinese to carry out the plans.

"We were allotted a section of Shantung and the work is now well under way there. We have planned to lay out a modern road which we believe will be a permanent contribution to China. We will also do smaller pieces of work in smaller sections.

"The right of way for the road has been provided by the gentry and officials of Shantung and the American Red Cross has not had to pay for the land. The road will run from Tehchow to Kaotangchow where it will join a road from Yencheng to Lintsing. This road runs through the center of our territory and the main road is 80 miles long.

"We are paying out no money for the construction of the road. There are some 20,000 men engaged in the work.

TO FEED WORKERS FAMILIES

We are not paying the men any money for their labor, instead we are feeding them and their families, thus reaching about 100,000 people.

"We intend to see the people of our territory safely through the winter and until the next harvest. There are from 500,000 to one million people in this district.

"We are carrying on the relief work by buying food in large quantities in the most favorable market, by securing free transportation by rail and by U.S. army transports and by a splendid organisation composed of Americans who are giving their services without compensation.

STAFF IS ORGANISED

"The work is in charge of Mr. John E. Baker, the American Advisor to the Ministry of Communications at Peking, who has a competent staff of engineers and relief workers.

"The American missionaries have thrown themselves into the work and are giving their full time to it. Dr. F. F. Tucker, of the American Board Mission, of Techow is in charge of the relief department and Mr. K. C. Weedin, of Frazar and Company is the chief engineer.

"The administrative office is in Peking and the base of operation is Tehchow, where the food is being assembled. The American Legation Marine Guard and the Fifteenth Infantry are supplying experienced men who are in charge of the supply stations.

"The worst feature of the work is that hundreds of families are migrating. The summer crops failed and the farmers fled to other districts. Those raising fall crops stayed to reap them. December will see this little grain gone and the need by January will be intense. The Red Cross work will be in full swing by then and we will be able to meet this need and save thousands.

TRAVELED IN DISTRICT

"I spent days traveling in a Shantung cart, through this district and I saw many deaths from starvation.

"I was asked to advise with other famine committees, especially in Shansi. Governor Yen is taking energetic steps to meet the need and I was greatly impressed with the splendid form of his organisation. He is hampered by lack of funds, and the fact that refugees are pouring into the province.

"I believe that we will be able to meet the need in our district for there is very little overhead expense, the food is brought in large quantities, and much of it is brought from Manchuria on U.S. army transports. The favorable exchange means that the $500,000 gold appropriated for work here will mean almost one million Mexican dollars.

"This is not the first time the American Red Cross has assisted China. In 1911 we sent over $260,000 and, later, engineers to survey certain districts and prevent further disaster. During the flood of 1917 we did definite work when a refugee camp was started at Tientsin where from $50,000 to $100,000 was expended as well for local work in the flood district."

Mr. White conferred yesterday with Mr. W. A. B. Nichols, president of the China Central Committee, regarding the work.

Mr. White will sail for Manila tomorrow on the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services liner, Empress of Russia. He will remain in Manila a month investigating social, medical and sanitary problems, after which he will sail for Honolulu where he will make a survey of the work which the American Red Cross is undertaking there. Later he will return to Washington.

Conference Of Premiers To Decide Austria's Fate

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—One of the most important issues to be decided at the conferences this week between Mr. Lloyd George, M. Leygues and Signor Sforza is the fate of Austria, whose financial position has recently become most critical and threatens the continued existence of Vienna.

The newspapers state that the Reparations Commission is of opinion that Austria can be maintained independently of Germany and reconstructed by the investment of $300,000,000, spread over five years, and financial circles in London favor Government participation in such an investment on the ground that it is sound insurance against a worse alternative.

It is generally believed that the residue of the Austro-Hungarian Empire cannot again be thrown into the political melting-pot without great danger of war. Banking and industrial interests are also anxious that the slump in British trade should not be aggravated by the economic upheaval that must inevitably ensue from the dissolution of Austria, as Vienna is still regarded as the gateway to Balkan trade. If this is paralysed British trade with the Balkans cannot be restored, and unemployment in Great Britain will correspondingly increase.

London, Dec. 1.—The conferences in Downing Street between Mr. Lloyd George, the French Premier M. Leygues, and Count Sforza are being resumed tomorrow.

It is understood that the conferences have up to the present revealed no strong divergence of views on Greek or other matters. It seems certain, however, that Greece under the new regime cannot, or most likely will not want to do, all that was expected of Greece under the late Premier M. Venizelos.

This alone will involve a revision of the Treaty of Sevres.

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, December 2.—The Premier, M. Leygues, accompanied by M. Carteron left Paris for London yesterday evening.

The Figaro understands that the Greek problem "has reached a sufficiently advanced stage for discussion of it to be resumed under favorable auspices."

Previous to his departure for London, M. Leygues received General Gouraud, M. Jonnart, M. Berthelot and Count Bonin-Longare, the Italian Ambassador. He also paid a visit to President Millerand.

FIFTY MILLION MARKS IS TID-BIT FOR EX-KAISER

"Hard To Get It Back," Says Bonar Law In Commons

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—In the House of Commons today at question time, Mr. Bonar Law said that the Government understood that fifty million marks had been paid to the ex-Kaiser from Germany since January 1, 1919. The Reparations Commission were devoting attention to the matter. It was not very easy to recover the money.

Mr. George Lambert asked: "Have the Allies taken precautions that the money will not be used in order to bring back the Hohenzollerns to Berlin?"

Mr. Bonar Law replied, "The Allies are keeping their eyes on what is being done in that connection."

Replying to Mr. Charles Leonard Lyle, Mr. Edward Short, the Home Secretary, expressed the opinion that the existing powers of the Government, including the Defence of the Realm Regulations, were sufficient to deal effectively with Sinn Fein outrages in England, but when the Defence of the Realm Act expired, it might be necessary to ask for further powers.

CUSTOMS NOTIFICATION

No. 955.

DRAWBACKS TO BE PAID BY CHEQUE AFTER 1st JANUARY, 1921.

Acting under instructions from the Inspector General of Customs, I hereby notify the public that beginning from the 1st January, 1920, all Drawbacks, whether for foreign or for native re-exports and Special Drawbacks, will be issued in the form of cheques payable at sight and in cash at the Bank of China, No. 3, Hankow Road. Chinese Drawback Certificates as issued at present will no longer be issued after 31st December nor accepted in payment of duties after that date. Such Drawback Certificates issued on or before 31st December, 1920, and remaining unused after that date will have to be presented to the Drawback Office to be exchanged for cheques.

Drawbacks due to a merchant will be paid in instalments twice a month by means of one Drawback Money Order (i. e. cheque). These cheques will be cashed on presentation by the merchants to the Bank of China. Merchants will be required to keep a "Drawback Register" similar to that kept, and according to the form prescribed, by the Customs. A pro forma page of the new "Drawback Register" to be used will be issued to merchants on application at the Drawback Office so as to enable them to have their Registers printed and bound before 1st January Next. When desiring to claim Drawbacks a merchant should proceed to the Drawback Office and there present his "Register" for comparison with the Customs Register.

From the 2nd to the 7th and from the 16th to the 21st of each month merchants are requested to bring their Registers to the Drawback Office to be checked. No cheques will be issued during these two periods. Cheques will be issued during the periods from the 8th to the 15th and from the 22nd to the end of each month.

Merchants should endeavour to claim Drawbacks, i.e. compare Registers, and cash their cheques within three months from the date of re-export. The Bank of China has been instructed not to accept Drawbacks in payment of duties after 31st December next and not to cash cheques, issued under the new system and presented for payment after the prescribed three months' limit, without special authority from the Commissioner of Customs.

The above system of paying all Drawbacks in cash is experimental and will be withdrawn if found unsatisfactory. It is hoped that merchants will do their best to co-operate with the Customs in making it a success.

L. A. LYALL,
Commissioner of Customs.

Coal Market

In their report dated December 2. Messrs. Wheelock and Co. write as follows:

Japan Coal.—Since writing a fortnight ago Sellers have issued their prices for 1921 requirements and most of the larger consumers have settled their contracts at prices which show a considerable increase over those for this year; this is entirely due to exchange which stood—a week ago—at Taels 62.00 for 100 yen against last year's rate of Taels 34.00 on settling day! this means that exchange shows a drop of about 100 percent as compared with last year! and although prices today are lower in Japan than they were a year ago they are not low enough to compensate for the enormous difference in exchange.

Fushun Coal.—No change.

Kaiping Coal.—Some large contacts have been fixed this week for 1921 deliveries at prices slightly in advance of those for 1920. There are indications of a shortage in all Washed Coal. Temporary congestion of tonnage is again being experienced at the port of loading due to shortage of rolling stock between the Mines and Chinwangtao.

Cardiff Coal.—Another shipment of about 1.070 tons of Cardiff coal has just arrived per s.s. "Javary" and has been landed here for Government use.

Hankow Market

Hankow, Nov. 24, 1920.

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET

There was very little doing either in Bills or Remittance. Taels T.T. on Shanghai rose from 97.1875 to 97.3, Chinese market. Foreign Banks being well supplied with funds were unwilling Sellers at 97⅜ to 97½. Dollars remained steady at about 69.975—70.175. Interest rose from 8½ percent to 15½ percent and closed firm.

IMPORTS

There is nothing new to report. The market remains dull with practically no business passing.

EXPORTS

A little business is reported to have been done in Wood Oil, Gallnuts and Tallow, but on the whole business is very dull. Tael prices for most products continue weak.

Freight Market

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

To United Kingdom and Continent.—The demand for freight space referred to in our last circular was of short-lived duration and the market has again relapsed into a listless condition, there being no demand worth speaking of in any direction nor are there any indications of a recovery taking place in the near future.

To United States via Pacific and via Panama and Suez.—There is no change, at all to report on any of these berths and we can see no chance of any improvement taking place for some time to come.

Coastwise.—Trade on the coast is very quiet and there is very little demand for tonnage in any direction.

SURVIVAL of the fittest, is the ancient law throughout the world. And nothing succeeds like success. No doubt you are export business, especially in your Musk business—an article in which all the human senses are brought into play when testing, therefore can you afford to buy any kind of Musk? Because others have been buying adulterated Musk for years, there is no reason why you should. Genuine Musk—minus the pods—protected by the world-renowned Trade Name "WILDER'S MUSK. A one or two-ounce sample of WILDER'S MUSK (minus pods) will be sent you on receipt of Chinese Postal Money Order. Price Prepaid $40.00 per ounce. No extra charges. Address MR. Hongkong Market

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor write as follows in their report dated Nov. 26:

There has been a distinctly better tone in the market during the past week, due principally to the drop in exchange, and all sterling dividend stocks have consequently risen considerably.

The Rubber market continues featureless.

The Shanghai market continues dull as far as Cottons are concerned, and very quiet generally.

The chief alterations from last week are:

Hongkong Banks.—Have had a sharp rise and close with buyers at $715 for cash after sales at $725.

Canton Insurances. — Have hardened to $375 buyers.

Union Insurances.—Have also had a sharp rise and after being done at $205 close with buyers at $200.

Hongkong Lands.—Have come to business at $127.

Hotels.—Are nominal at $155.

Hongkong Docks.—Are just steady at $156½.

Deferred Indos.—London Register shares are round about £37. Hongkong Register shares are offering at $198.

Douglases.—Rose to a buying quotation of $60, but buyers appear to have eased off, and the present quotation is nominal.

Steamboats.—Have been done at $24¼ at which price there are buyers.

Hongkong Trams.—Are wanted at $7½.

Hongkong Electrics.—Are in good demand at $18.

Powells.—Are in request at $17.

Shanghai Docks.—Have come to business at Tls. 120.

Exchange.—The demand selling rate on London is 3-7¼ and the T.T. selling rate on Shanghai is 74.

APPALLING

Moved by common humanity, all of us have contributed handsomely according to our means in relief of this terrible calamity. But the distress is certain to go on all during the coming winter. We have therefore decided to contribute 3 cts. per dozen of the sale of Sodawater, "Crystallia" Table water, Lithia, Tonic water Seltzer, and Brom-Seltzer commencing from the 1st December and continuing till the distress has abated.

At first sight, this may not appear to be a large contribution. But remember, that in 1917 this firm was enabled to contribute $1,103.98 to the Allied War Funds from the sale of Sodawater alone. The sales will be checked by our books, each month, by a committee of our customers.

You now have an opportunity of contributing to a most worthy object, while at the same time enjoying a

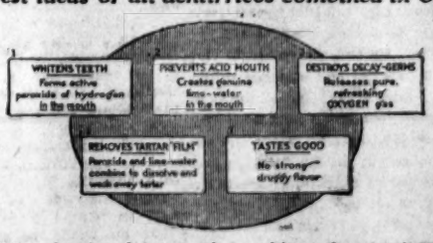
Five Dentifrice Features in One

(Newest ideas of all dentifrices combined in Calox



WHITENS TEETH
Forms active peroxide of hydrogen in the mouth
PREVENTS ACID MOUTH
Creates genuine lime-water in the mouth
DESTROYS DECAY-GERMS
Releases pure, refreshing OXYGEN gas
REMOVES TARTAR FILM
Peroxide and lime-water combine to dissolve and wash away tartar
TASTES GOOD
No strong druggy flavor

SOME of us brush our teeth to whiten them; others to prevent decay and still others to refresh the mouth. Many believe they have acid-mouth or wish to remove the "crust of tartar" which is forming.

Regardless of why you brush your teeth, study the chart above and decide whether the dentifrice you are now trying will do or is doing all that you can reasonably expect from a dentifrice.

If it is, continue to use it faithfully. If it is good for only one of the duties of a good dentifrice, you had better try McK & R Calox, which combines in one dentifrice most of the features of all modern dentifrices.

If you haven't heard the story of McK & R Calox—how it forms real lime-water in your mouth to prevent acids—how it creates fresh active peroxide on the teeth every time you brush them—how it releases genuine oxygen gas which penetrates into every crevice and "gasses" the dangerous decay-germs into harmlessness, if you don't know this story of the victory of modern science, send for "The McK & R Calox Story."

Your dentist will recommend McK & R Calox to you and your druggist has it. Try it next time you need a dentifrice.

The taste is a surprise to most people. It is not the least bit "druggy" which proves that it is possible to make a pleasant tasting dentifrice and that a "strong" taste does not prove the efficiency of any paste or powder.

Price 50 cts. per tin.

Not Exactly A Christmas Story ---And Yet!

WHEN all our little readers who are working on their Christmas stories for THE CHINA PRESS competition pause to consider what is going to happen next, and are for the moment at a loss, and can think of nothing, let them turn to the pages of this newspaper.

Who could imagine, for instance, that the great Italian poet, Gabriel d'Annunzio, starting out to play Santa Claus for his own beloved people, could reach such a pass as that which we witness today?

D'Annunzio was, and is a little Italian boy, although in years he is grown up. Nobody, apparently, knows exactly where he was born. He was just an ordinary little boy. He was kicked and cuffed around by the more important people, that is, the people who thought that they were more important.

And every time these puffed up people kicked him, they put an idea into him. And he wrote about this later. He wrote about everything that had happened to him. He was what they called a centrist. He seemed to think only from his own standpoint—from the standpoint of his own experiences. He was always in trouble. Yet he wrote beautiful poems, plays and stories, while in his own life he was unlovely. The fact that the bailiff, or whatever they call him in Italy, was always at his door meant nothing to him. He had a message for the world. He did not, as many critics have claimed, live in a world of illusion. He lived in a very real world—just as we all do—where one has to get up in the morning and go to bed at night and in between times do all the other things, like seeing that one is spic and span and knows one's lessons before going to school, and does a kind act every day, and eats from four to seven meals at the expense of one's parents, and plays football and pretends about algebra.

And secretly indulges in Chinese candy and cigarettes. It is a great life, as our fathers have said, if we don't weaken.

Col. d'Annunzio finally grew up. And he was in poverty, although he had written wonderful poems and plays. He even had to flee his own country. Then the war came on. And although his own country had been allied to Germany and Austria for many years he thought that it ought to fight on the side of the Allies. So he journeyed back to Italy, and although he was 54 years old, long past the period when he could be called upon to fight, he spoke from every rostrum in Rome, and urged his people to fight on the side of right. And although he was only a poverty-stricken poet he so moved his people that they went into the war on the right side. By this we learn to know the power of an idea, and how it can move and sweep a people.

D'Annunzio, at 54, entered the war with Italy. He first served as an infantryman, and later as an aviator and as a sailor. As an infantryman he charged the Austrian trenches on the Carso and planted the victorious Italian flag on them. As an aviator he executed many daring enterprises, bombing the Austrian naval bases of Pola and Cattaro, both of which were heavily fortified. He was wounded twice and lost an eye. And after that he flew over the Alps and across Vienna, dropping pamphlets, instead of bombs. Still later he took a motor boat and crawled into an Austrian harbor near Fiume and sank a great battleship. All this by the little boy who doesn't know where he was born! He became a great Italian hero, almost to be classed with Garibaldi.

And then according to the peace terms, after the war was won, he found that Fiume, which he has traced back in its belonging, to the Roman empire, was not to become part of Italy.

Thereupon he organised a force and seized Fiume. He wished to preserve it for his native land. The great powers had decided otherwise. When his own country ordered him to bow to the will of the great powers he defied it, and along with it, he defied the world. And for nearly two years he has held out.

Now an Admiral in his own navy, which he served so well, is saying to his Italian sailors: "We have a sad task to perform: We must take Fiume away from d'Annunzio."

D'Annunzio himself never wrote anything more imaginative or more tragic. He is a hero in his own country and whether he wins or loses Fiume he will remain an Italian hero.

And if any little Italian children in this community are competing in our Christmas Story Contest, and are inclined to think that they are just little children and not important to the future of the world, they will do well to ponder the story here told of this little Italian boy, who doesn't even know where he was born.

Shaw On Gilbert Murray And Lloyd George

A characteristic letter was sent to Edinburgh University Liberals by Mr. George Bernard Shaw, in support of Professor Gilbert Murray's candidature for the Lord Rectorship.

"Politics apart," he says, "if Mr. Lloyd George becomes Rector of Edinburgh University Scotland will lose its educational primacy, and the University will become a mere provincial Oxford.

"If Mr. Lloyd George were a Scottish Liberal statesman, with principles, and a trained thinker, his candidature would be more presentable. But he is the incarnation of the Parliamentary electioneering suburb, flattering recklessly short-sighted opportunism which is visibly wrecking European civilisation, and against which we have no breakwater except the intellectual training for which the universities ostensibly, and the Scottish universities really, stand.

"His election as Rector would be the end of a great Scottish tradition if it were unopposed, but his election against Gilbert Murray, the most perfectly appropriate and becoming candidate the university could have found, would really be the intellectual equivalent of 'Not this man, but Barabbas.'

"If this were a Parliamentary election I should wish Mr. Lloyd George success, for Gilbert Murray is so much too good for the wretched assembly which, when the soldiers won the war, lost the peace, and is now, under Mr. George's leadership, handling Ireland as the Turkish Empire used to handle the Balkans, and provoking civil war and red revolution in Great Britain. . . . That he would be more out of place if possible as a Member of Parliament than the Prime Minister as Rector of a University; whereas Mr. Lloyd George is so completely at home in the House of Commons that it is impossible to conceive him anywhere else.

"But as the position at issue is the Rectorship, it seems to me to be an insult to University education that Murray should suffer the extraordinary academic indignity of a contest with such an antagonist. There is no English word that exactly describes the action of the Unionist Association. A Frenchman would call it a 'gaffe.'

"To do Mr. Lloyd George justice, I do not think he would oppose a candidate so obviously more suitable than himself, if he did not wish to make the election a political one, and seize the opportunity of formally proclaiming himself a Unionist.

"But is it possible that anyone in Scotland has ever mistaken him for anything else? Certainly no one in Ireland has.

"Yours, deeply scandalised,
"Bernard Shaw."

A Miscalculation

(From the Kansas City Star)

"Did you go to your brother-in-law's funeral 'tuther day, as you 'lowed you could?" inquired an acquaintance from down on Fiddle Creek.

"Nope!" replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "I aimed to, all right enough, but my calkerlations got soter upset. Gabe didn't die."

* * *

IF I were the Moon I would give the light that I receive that it might overcome the horrors of the night; that it might relieve the weary watchers waiting for the Dawn of happiness.

* * *

IF I were the Stars I would make each an eye that it might look into the cause of suffering souls and twinkle its brilliancy so that their sorrows would be banished in smiles.

* * *

IF I were the Wind I would blow away into the waste spaces of the Earth all rancour, all pain, all terror. From the Land of Nowhere, from which I came, I would carry on soft zephyrs messages of love to the longing, messages of hope to the hopeless, messages of forgiveness to the penitent and messages of rest to the weary.

IF I were the Rain I would wash away all tears from the eyes of the weepers, all filthiness from those who would be clean, all fear from those who seek courage.

IF I were Rain I would carry my showers to the parched places of the Earth, I would water the furrows, give life streams to the thirsty and then call upon the Sun to drive away my sombre hue with its brightness so that Festivity might overcome Famine.

IF I were Riches I would become poor in spirit that I might understand the trials of those who having labored are still unable to reach the Land of Plenty. I would be poor in my riches that the poor might be rich in my bounty.

IF I were Poverty I would strive for the Wealth of Work that the good accord of accomplishment might relieve distress.

* * *

IF I were Tragedy I would strengthen my puppets that they might appear upon a world's stage able to turn the tears into laughter, wickedness into goodness and I—Tragedy—into Comedy.

IF I were Comedy I would ask nought else but that the Drama of life be played in the Theater of Hope, to an audience of Good-Seekers, upon the theme "Goodwill" in a way that would win the approval that is God's Will

* * *

IF I were Man I would seek to scatter broadcast the best gifts of God amongst the people; I would strive that culture and knowledge and exalted ideals be spread from the few to the many; I would fight so that no man should die ignorant to whom God had given the capacity for knowledge; I would work to the end that our great cities should no longer continue the scandal and the shame alike of our Religion and our Humanity.

THE WORLD

Love built a stately house; where Fortune came;
And spinning fancies, she was heard to say
That her fine cobwebs did support the frame,
Whereas they were supported by the same:
But Wisdom quickly swept them all away.

Then Pleasure came, who, liking not the fashion,
Began to make balconies, terraces,
Till she had weakened all by alteration:
But reverend laws, and many a proclamation
Reformed all at length by manaces.

Then entered Sin, and with that Sycamore,
Whose leaves first sheltered man from drought and dew,
Working and winding slily evermore,
The inward walls and summers cleft and tore:
But Grace shored these, and cut them as they grew.

Then Sin combined with Death in a firm band,
To raze the building to the very floor:
Which they effected, none could them withstand;
But Love and Grace took Glory by the hand
And built a braver palace than before.

The Emden Raids

Various Criticisms Of The Indian Authorities

An event of considerable interest is the appearance of the first of the volumes of the British Official History of the War, says the Madras Mail. This consists of an account of the naval operations to the battle of the Falklands and is accompanied by a separate case of maps and charts. The history is based upon official documents, and is appearing by direction of the Historical Section of the committee of Imperial Defense. The publishers are Messrs. Longmans Green & Co. It is being produced by Sir Julian S. Corbett, who points out in a preface that the work is only official in so far as he has had access to British documents, not only naval but military and political, and that "for the form and character of the narrative as well as for opinions expressed the author alone is responsible."

It may be said at once that the manner in which Sir Julian has approached his immense task makes an instant appeal; that the work is intensely alive and readable; that technicalities do not obtrude; and that the record of events which occurred over the greater part of the world's surface and over an extended period of time are marshalled with praiseworthy conciseness, while the military and political relations to the naval moves are adequately dealt with. This last point, especially in connection with the preparations and early days of the war, is most important, and the assembly of all the facts, now for the first time possible, throws a flood of light upon many dark places of the past.

THE EMDEN'S RAID

Readers in India will turn naturally to the events in which they are chiefly interested and in this first volume at least they are much catered for. For here is the story of the Emden told anew and often in a fresh light, while there are various criticisms of the authorities which have more than an academic interest. The Emden when the war broke out was lying at Tsingtao and she was summoned to Admiral von Spee at his base at Pagan Island in the Landrones. After leaving Tsingtao the Emden was on the lookout for the Russian cruiser Askold, but missed her and captured instead the Ryasan a ship of the Volunteer Fleet. She narrowly escaped being taken by Admiral Jedram who was operating in the waters about the Yap wireless station and the Triumph which had been able to mobilise. In fact the Triumph heard the Emden's wireless and on August crossed her track but could not place her. She joined von Spee on August 12 and was immediately detached with her tender the Markomannia on a special mission to the southward. By the end of August she was approaching the Indian Ocean on her famous raid.

ITALIAN HELP

The first news of the appearance of the Emden reached Calcutta on September 14, when the City of Rangoon put back into the Hooghly on hearing from the Loredano that a German cruiser was operating in the Bay and had already four prizes in company. Until that moment she was thought to be with von Spee in the Southern Pacific. And here comes the first breath of criticism. It was not considered possible that the Emden could have eluded the net Admiral Jerram had set in the Far East and no part of Eastern waters was regarded as more secure than the Bay of Bengal. "So complete, indeed," says Sir Julian Corbett, "was the sense of security expressed by the Indian authorities that masters, in spite of Admiralty instructions, were in this section keeping to the usual track and steaming with undimmed lights. Had the most ordinary precaution been taken there must have been a much milder story to tell, but as it was the Emden had an easy task."

On December 5, she left her secret coaling place in Sumatra and again narrowly missed capture by the Hampshire. She then made for the Colombo-Calcutta track and there early on September 10 took the Greek collier Pontoporos with 6,000 tons of Bengal coal, which she kept for her own use. She sank the Indus and Loyat chartered as transports and going to Bombay empty; the Kabinga, outward for New York was spared as the cargo was American-owned; the Killin with coal and the Diplomat with a general cargo both were sunk. "None of these ships made any attempt to get away," says Sir Julian. "All were on the direct run and all steamed quietly to meet the Emden assuming she was a British cruiser." Then she met the Lorenado, an Italian vessel which was spared and was able to awaken India to the fact that a raider was preying on commerce almost at the mouth of the Hooghly.

THE EMDEN COALS

On September 16, Admiral Jerram heard of the raid. He arranged to watch points in his vicinity where the Emden might coal and despatch the Hampshire (Captain H. W. Grant) and the Chikuma, the latter of which was sent to Colombo, while Captain Grant made for Rangoon to search the Nicobar and Andaman Islands. The Yarmouth, also attached, developed engine-room defects and put into Penang.

Meanwhile, the Emden left the main trade route for False Bay to coal and in so moving ran into the Trabbach from Negapatam to Calcutta. Her Captain von Muller sank and as his wireless told him the Loredano was spreading the alarm, he sent the Kabinga back to Calcutta with his prisoners. He then cruised about the Sandheads and except for sinking the Clan Matheson he enjoyed no further activities. Wireless had put a stop to his operations. He then coaled and set off for Rangoon in ignorance of the fact that Captain Grant was approaching that point in a search for him.

AUTHORITIES CRITICISED

On the evening of September 18 the Emden made over her Clan Matheson prisoners to the Dore, a Norwegian ship with which she had fallen in. At the same time the Hampshire was coming up north on the east of the Nicobars. The next day the Dorvre was in Rangoon with her news and about noon Captain Grant had it. Thus Sir Julian:

He had unfortunately been compelled to proceed to Port Blair in the Andamans for to his despair the Indian authorities kept sending him messages "en clair" and he had to get to a cable in order to despatch an urgent request that they should desist from thus revealing his presence. His chance of getting hold of the chase was already seriously compromised but he held away again on a different course—keeping on to the northward instead of going to Rangoon in hopes of cutting the Emden off. . . . Unfortunately Captain von Muller had taken in the unlucky signals and they assured him that several British cruisers were working to the south of him. Knowing, therefore, that the mouth of the Bay was dangerous ground he coaled under way from the Markomannia in the Gulf of Martaban, and then held away to the westward just in time to cross ahead of Hampshire, and thus he escaped her for the second time.

ALL LIGHTS SHOWING

Then came the Emden's Madras escapade. After her appearance off Rangoon all trace of her had been lost and on September 22, the Colombo-Calcutta trade route was opened again. Yet this same evening she was off Madras bombarding the oil tanks on the seafront and also the town. At that time she was in grave danger. The Hampshire was 30 miles to the north and the Chikuma little more to the south. The Emden after being seen at Cuddalore and Pondicherry sailed north and though the plan was to give a false idea of her intentions it nearly led her into the Hampshire which could not have been more than three hours' steaming away. However, she then shaped a southerly course and ran down the Ceylon coast ahead of Captain Grant, the Chikuma meantime guarding Trincomalee. In the forenoon of September 25, 25 miles south of Galle, she met the King Lud and sank her and then held on for Colombo. Then, says Sir Julian:

Arriving off the port at nightfall, he (Captain von Muller) saw a large ship coming out, all lights burning, dogged her till he was 50 miles out, and about midnight overhauled her. She was the Tymerice with £60,000 worth of sugar on board. She was sunk like the King Lud, and the Emden carried on for the south of Cape Comorin, where the tracks from Bombay and Aden to Colombo converge. Here the following afternoon, she captured the Gryfevale whose master was doing his best to keep off the converging tracks and this ship Captain von Muller kept.

She then steamed for Minicoy, past which island run the usual tracks for the Red Sea and took three vessels "all on or near the usual track." The Buresk, an Admiralty collier, was taken in the dead of night and "gave herself away by steaming on the direct track with all lights brightly burning." In this phase of the operations the Emden was in no danger as she was being searched for in the Bay of Bengal. When the Chikuma was sent off after her to Minicoy, she was lost in the trackless coasts of the Indian Ocean. However, the hunt continued. On October 12 Pontoporos and the Markomania were captured at Simalurand, so reduced the Emden's coal supplies to what he had in her bunkers and in the Buresk. Later Captain Grant made for Diego Garcia in the Chagos Island, once a coaling place for Orient boats on the frozen meat trade. Captain von Muller had an old chart which showed him this abandoned trade route as still existing and he looked for a rich harvest. But while he saw no ship he met with a splendid reception from the British colony which did not know a war had begun and was given help in heeling his ship and cleaning her bottom and in coaling. On October 10 he left only to be again missed by the Hampshire which then started back to Ceylon. Meanwhile, the Emden had made a bag of six more vessels near Minikoi, one of which was an Admiralty collier with 6,000 tons for Hongkong. At this stage precautions were being taken and routes and orders were observed, and while six vessels were captured, 19 passed the danger area, safely. After this exploit, the Emden again missed being rounded up south of Colombo by the lucky accident of her colliers being unable to steam more than nine and a half knots. The Hampshire and the Empress of Asia were just ahead of her. Subsequent to this came the raid upon Penang and the sinking of the Zemchug, and it was in picking up survivors of the French destroyer Mousquet, also sunk, that the Emden learned of the loss of the Pontoporos. Her next public appearance was at Cocos Island, where she was sunk.

Sir Julian Corbett adds that the Emden had no system of obtaining intelligence. "The stories that prevailed at the time of ingenious wireless calls and the like had little or no foundation: he (Captain von Muller) had not even a direction meter to locate the calls he heard. His method had simply been to take up a position in a fertile area and hunt smoke, which from a crow's nest on his foremast he could see at a distance of 35 miles." However, it seems fairly clear that he was helped at the beginning by the failure of the Indian authorities to take due precautions on the Indian trade routes.

Chinese Marriages

The element of love is supposed by Europeans to be completely absent from Chinese marriages. This is a mistake; of course, when an unpleasant young rogue is wedded to a hot-tempered girl, who has never seen him before, love is naturally absent. But when a good-natured, handsome youth and a gentle beauty are chosen for each other, there is every reason for proper love to grow out of the union.

Sir Robert Hart, until 1911 the Inspector-General of Chinese Maritime Customs, has compared Western and Eastern marriages thus—In the former case, it is like putting a kettle of hot water on a fireless stove, and allowing it to cool; in the latter, putting a kettle of cold water on a burning stove and allowing it to boil. —Exchange.

Jazz No More

Jazz and London are to know each other no more. The Shimmy Shake is likewise to go. The Golliwog Glide, the Alligator Azzle Brontosaurus Bump, and every other variety of shake, wiggle, wuzzle and glide, have been tabooed by the National Association of Dancing in New York, but London has not gone quite so far. London dancing instructors this season will taboo wiggle, squirming Jazz and the Shimmy Shake from their curriculum. Dancing classes in future will be nothing but waltz banquets with perhaps an occasional fox-trot thrown in.—The Globe.

EX-EMPEROR ASKS FUNDS FOR WEDDING

In an audience with the President, Mr. Shih Shu, the guardian of the Tsing House, informed the Chief Executive that the Tsing House has decided to celebrate the wedding ceremony of the ex-Boy-Emperor Hsuan Tung next year and that a sum of one million dollars and a half is required for the expenses of the wedding ceremony.

As the Tsing House is short of funds, Mr. Shih Shu asked the Government to give what financial aid it can so as to show good treatment to the Tsing House.

In reply the President told Mr. Shih that the Government is under obligation to supply funds for the needs of the ex-Imperial House but before he could give any definite promise, he must first obtain the sanction of the Cabinet.

The President also advised the Tsing House to cut down the unnecessary expenses as much as it can in the celebration of the Ex-Boy Emperor's wedding ceremony.

DR. DUGALD CHRISTIE RETURNS TO MUKDEN

Dr. Dugald Christie, C.M.G., Principal of the Mukden Medical College and Superintendent of the Hospital, has returned to Mukden along with Mrs. Christie after an absence of a year and a half in Scotland.

He has been successful in getting increased support for the work he represents, and it is expected that there will be a great advance in both College and Hospital during the next few years.

Sir Joseph Maclay, the Shipping Controller, has given £10,000 to enable the College to arrange to teach women students as well as men. The staff of the College and Hospital now numbers 15 Europeans, besides a number of Chinese.

FILIPINOS OPPOSE ASIATIC LABOR

"The Filipino people are against immigration."

This is the first categorical statement made by Senate President Quezon in connection with the proposed plan of Secretary Kalaw of the department of the interior of importing Asiatic labor to the Philippines.

The statement was made in a letter which the senate president sent to Potenciano Salita, president of the league for the protection of national labor which is conducting a campaign to arouse the sympathy of the people against the adoption of immigration in the islands.

POPULATION OF KOBE SHOWS 9,000 DECREASE

As the result of the national census the population and households of Kobe are now officially published. They are as follows:

Ward	House-hold	Popula-tion
Fukiai	26,181	114,958
Kobe	17,428	82,123
Soto	16,245	73,726
Sosei	33,828	143,238
Minato	8,773	36,240

Suma	7,619	32,341
"Water side" ..	2,447	9,622
Total	138,982	607,164

The figures show a decrease, as compared with the police census investigation made in the previous fiscal year, of 9,239 in households and some 50,000 in population, excluding soldiers now on service, prisoners and those temporarily returned to their native places.

SUFFRAGISTS IN JAPAN RENEWING CAMPAIGN

Suffragists are going about their business in earnest again. In pursuance of the resolution passed at the meeting of the Opposition members of the Diet and publicists on the 4th instant at the Seiyoken, Tsukiji, Tokio, that united efforts should be made by the Opposition parties for the purpose of carrying the Suffrage Bill through the forthcoming session of the Diet, those who are closely interested in the scheme have been holding conferences to produce a bill consistent with the ideals of all the Opposition parties set forth on this particular question.

An executive committee of 27 was appointed on the 18th instant, and they are to meet at the Imperial Hotel on every Thursday for the present to attend to the drafting of the bill and to the execution of the propaganda program. Under their auspices a meeting will be held at Kyoto on December 2, to be followed by similar meetings at Kobe, Osaka and Nagoya.

SOCIALIST EXHIBITION ANGERS JAP POLICE

An interesting exhibiton of the handiwork of Japanese Socialists, consisting of pictures, and Japanese hokku and other stanzas, has been on view in one of the rooms of the Hoshi Pharmacy Company building at Kyobashi, Tokio.

The Metropolitan Police got alarmed and sent a few high officials to the exhibition on the 23rd instant, and inspected the exhibits. The inspection lasted five hours, and as the result 29 exhibits, including poems, calligraphs, and letters, were ordered to be removed.

Among the exhibitors were Messrs. Sakai, Osugi, Yamakawa and and Arahata, well-known Socialists.

KOREAN GOVERNOR WANTS MORE INDUSTRIES

Baron Saito, Governor General of Korea, is credited by the Jiji with three guiding principles underlying the future administration of Korea. One is the complete extirpation of all insubordinate Koreans; the second is the maintenance of absolute peace and order in the peninsula; and the last is the development of national education and industry.

The above policies of Korean administration framed by the Governor General are reported to have been completely endorsed by the Central Government who have decided, according to the same paper, to increase the next year's budget estimates by some 16,000,000 yen for the above purposes

It is also reported that the Japanese military operations against the malcontent Korean outlaws are making steady progress in Chientao as well as in other parts and that the bases of their activities will all be completely destroyed in the near future.

JAPANESE COMPETE IN AERIAL MAIL FLIGHT

The second aerial mail flight in Japan came to an end on the 23rd instant, when three aviators Messrs. Goto, Ishibashi and Takahashi arrived at Kurume, their destination. At the time of landing Mr. Takahashi's machine was slightly damaged.

Mr. Ishibashi, who covered the whole distance in 3 hours 27 minutes will gain the first prize, and Mr. Takahashi, who took 3 hours and 58 minutes, is expected to be awarded the second prize. There is, however, some doubt as to whether Mr. Takahashi flew over Okayama on his first day's flight.

His machine was not observed by the officers who were detailed to Okayama. It may be that he flew at too high an altitude to be observed. The point will be decided at a meeting of judges to be held on the 2nd proximo.

KWANGTUNG GOVERNOR PUTS BAN ON GAMBLING

Fifteen thousand citizens of Canton, including thousands of women and school girls, in a parade several miles long, passed the Governor of Kwangtung in review on the afternoon of November 23, when a petition from more than 50,000 members of the Anti-Gambling Society, under the auspices of the Canton Christian community, asking for the abolition of gambling, was formally approved of by the first citizen of the Province. The Governor assured the members of the parade, who were mostly students, that gambling will be prohibited in Kwangtung after December 1, as time must be allowed to the gambling interests to wind up their trade.

EXPLAINS OI'S STAND TOWARD COMMUNISTS

General Takayanagi has attempted to explain the proclamation of General Oi, which was practically a declaration of war against the Communists. He does not make it very much better. In fact, he makes it somewhat worse, for he does not confine himself, as did General Oi, to saying that the Japanese Government will not tolerate a Communistic Government in the Russian Far East.

He says that, while Japan has no objection to a democratic Government, democracies do not always act quite according to their declarations, and that it is necessary that the Government now in the course of making for the Russian Far Eastern Republic shall be such in theory and practice as to satisfy the Japanese military authorities in Siberia.

Even where he apparently explains General Oi as only uttering a warning for the sake of the safety of Japanese garrisons, he is really making a declaration that no opinion will be tolerated likely to lead to a dislike of the presence of the Japanese troops. It will be remembered that, when an early evacuation of Siberia was first promised, General Takayanagi roundly expressed the opinion that this was nonsense, and that Japan had "great plans" in Siberia. If he can bring it about, those great plans will come to fruition.—Kobe Chronicle.

Catalogued for Sale: 2,023,404 lbs. (about 903 tons).

The auctions this week were again very poorly attended and bidding was very slack, the general run of prices being on a par with those prevailing last week.

Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet was in fair demand, and realised up to 39½ cents as at last week's auction. Unawarded parcels sold at a discount of from 2-3 cents. There was a large quantity of F.A.Q. and Off Quality Sheet on sale, but as there was no genuine demand for these grades, most lots were withdrawn. Other sellers were content to sell at the lower level, however, in view of the pessimistic outlook of the market.

Standard First Latex Crepe found several keen buyers, and the market advanced up to 41½ cents as this grade appeared to be rather scarce. This shows an advance of 1 cent on the week. Two lots realised 42 cents.

Lower grades of Crepe chonged hands at round about last week's level, Barky Crepes showing a slight decline in value.

There was no change at the continuation this morning.
